Ride with Us - Protect Oregon's Trails

Oregon Equestrian Trails (OET) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to preserving, maintaining, and expanding access to horse trails and horse camps across the state. We are the unified voice for equestrians in Oregon.

Join a Community That Keeps Oregon Riding Strong

Across Oregon's forests, mountains, beaches and open spaces, equestrian trails and camps don't stay open by accident — they stay open because people like you speak up, show up, and ride together.

Protect What You Love. Be Part of Something Bigger

We advocate at the state and local level to keep trails open and accessible. When decisions are made about land use, we make sure equestrians are heard.

Ride More, Worry Less. Join other passionate riders

From trail clearing to campground improvements, our volunteers work year-round to maintain safe, enjoyable riding spaces.

Your Voice Matters

Public lands are constantly changing. Without a strong and organized equestrian presence, access can be reduced or lost. Together, we ensure that doesn't happen.

More Than Just Advocacy — It's Fun, Too!

Being part of OET means more than meetings and maintenance. It means:

- Organized group rides across Oregon
- Campouts and social events
- Trail challenges and recreational programs
- Volunteer projects that make a real impact

We're having another statewide gathering, and you and your horse are invited!

Our 3rd Quarter Board of Directors meeting will be held at beautiful Santiam Horse Camp, just outside Gates, Oregon, about 30 miles east of Salem. In addition to some wonderful riding, I invite you to sit in on the board meeting. All OET members are always welcome to attend. It's a great opportunity to see how your state organization works, hear what your chapter representatives and state officers are discussing, and join the conversation. We all benefit from hearing different perspectives, and member participation helps keep OET strong.

We've reserved several campsites, so if you'd like to join us, contact me at president@oregonequestriantrails.org to check on campsite and horse corral availability. If you prefer to make your own reservation, you can do that as well.

If you'd like to learn more about the camp and trails, here are a few helpful resources:

https://nwhorsetrails.com/blogs/northwest-oregon-horse-trails/santiam-horse-camp https://www.oregon.gov/odf/recreation/guides/santiam-horse-camp-guide.pdf

https://oregonstateparks.reserveamerica.com/unifSearchResults.do

The board meeting will be held Saturday, August 22, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. There is plenty of time to enjoy a ride or two during your stay. If you can't attend in person, the meeting will also be available electronically—but I have to admit, it's much more fun around the campfire.

One of the items on our agenda will be finding a candidate for our next Vice President of Field Services. Matt's kids are growing faster than he can keep up with, and his family understandably needs more of his time these days. Be sure to read his article in this newsletter to learn more about the position. Matt has done an outstanding job organizing the role and documenting its responsibilities, so the next volunteer will have an excellent roadmap to get started. If you'd like to learn more—or know someone in your chapter who would be a great fit—please reach out to either Matt or me. OET thrives because members step forward to share their talents, and this is a wonderful opportunity to make a difference.

I'll be there with my Tennessee Walking Horse, Gemma, and we're hoping to find a riding buddy. She loves to gait, so we'd be a good match if your horse enjoys covering some ground, too. She also does best riding with just one or two other horses. We are practicing that it is perfectly acceptable to relax and just enjoy the trail.

VP of Public Lands

Kim McCarrel

A new Executive Order, issued in early June, is likely to impact our trails by allowing increased use of Off-Highway Vehicles (OHVs) on federal lands.

Back in 1972 and 1977, Presidents Nixon and Carter issued Executive Orders restricting Off-Highway Vehicle (OHV) use on public lands to minimize environmental impacts. Those executive orders established criteria for the use of OHVs on federal land and authorized land managers to shut down OHV use if environmental damage was occurring. They also limited OHV use to prevent conflicts between off-road vehicles and other recreational uses.

President Trump just issued an Executive Order that rescinds both 50-year-old executive orders, saying the rules were "subjective" and "vague," creating "unnecessary barriers to recreation, energy and timber production, access to remote areas, and infrastructure maintenance." (Presumably, the recreational barriers mentioned in the executive order refer to motorized, not non-motorized users.)

The Executive Order directs the agencies to rescind or revise their restrictions on OHV use. Given that staff at the Forest Service, BLM, and National Parks have been dramatically cut (and additional layoffs are reportedly coming), it isn't clear how the agencies will overhaul the OHV access rules.

It will take time for the agencies to develop their new policies and implementation procedures, so at this point, please don't expect your local contacts to know what actions they are expected to take. But it's a good idea to let them know that you're concerned about the impact of the new rules on your local trails.

VP of Field Service

Matt Dolphin

VP of Field Sevices: You Don't need to be a Sawyer

In the last Riders Roundup, I shared some information about the VP of Field Services position and what the role involves. I wanted to follow up with one important point: you do not need to be a certified sawyer to serve as VP of Field Services.

Sawyer certification is helpful background, but it is not a requirement for the position. The role is really about coordination, communication, and appreciation.

Over the past three years, I have worked to make the position more approachable for whoever steps into it next. When I was first asked to take on the role, it was to fill an open position for one year. I knew going into it that there was not much written guidance available, so I have done my best to build that guidance for the future.

The core procedures of the job are now documented. The annual tasks are outlined in a calendar, and I have template emails ready for many of the regular communications that need to be sent throughout the year. My goal has been to create a practical manual so the next VP of Field Services is not starting from scratch.

Anyone who is organized, willing to communicate with chapters, and interested in supporting trail stewardship can learn this role. You do not need to know everything on day one.

If you are curious about the position or wondering whether it might be a good fit, please feel free to contact me. I would be happy to answer questions and talk through what the role actually entails.

Hello OET'ers! A thoughtful reflection that I would like to mention.

It is easy to get caught up in Facebook posts, whether intended or not. Please think about the long term when posting or replying. We have a fantastic group of people who work their butts off to make everything come together, whether it's a work party, event or even a meeting or potluck.

Before jumping to conclusions or making assumptions maybe step back for a minute, or contact the person or people involved privately. It is worth it to protect the reputation of Oregon Equestrian Trails and all that we work so hard for and have built over 56 years.

Thank you so much and I hope you all have a fantastic summer of riding and camping.

I am hoping to get more done with the website updates - possibly getting together a team (that would be awesome!).

Thank you and please don't hesitate to reach out anytime via email or text!

OET Tech Corner

The Magic of Account Settings (and Saving Your Volunteers a Headache!)

By Marty DeVall, OET Web Master

Hey there, fellow trail riders!

We've all been there: you try to open an invite to an OET Google Group, a shared chapter calendar, or a committee document, and you hit a digital brick wall because your email ends in @msn.com, @aol.com, or @outlook.com. Your first instinct might be to shoot an email to our tech team asking, "Hey, can you switch my registered OET email to my new Gmail address so this works?"

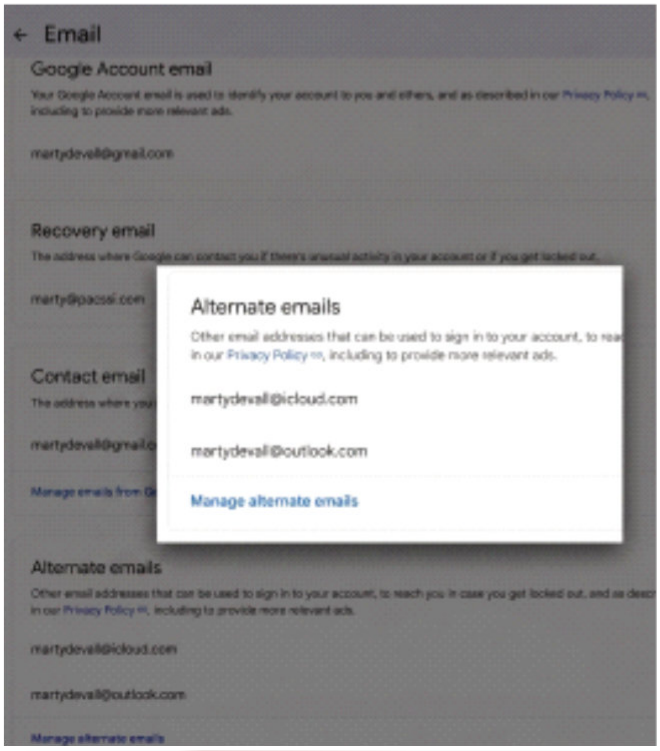
While we are always happy to help, updating email addresses mid-year actually triggers an avalanche of behind-the-scenes manual work for our volunteers—from updating rosters to resynchronizing email groups.

But here is the best-kept secret in tech: You don't need a Gmail address to use Google resources, and you don't need to change your email with OET!

Why Linking Your Current Email is a Digital Game-Changer

By taking just two minutes to link your current non-Google email address to a Google identity, you unlock some fantastic perks for your entire digital life:

- One Master Login: You can log into multiple websites, apps, and OET resources using your existing, familiar email address. Less password fatigue!
- Zero Mail Disruption: This does not change where your emails are delivered. Your MSN, AOL, or Outlook mail will still go exactly where it always has. It simply tells Google, "Hey, this is me!"
- Smoother Family Sharing: It makes sharing Google Photos, calendar events, and drive folders with family members incredibly seamless, even if they use different email providers.
- Saves Volunteer Time: You get instant access to OET materials without waiting for a volunteer to manually update system rosters and permissions.



As shown here, you can have multiple alternate emails (like iCloud or Outlook) all pointing to a single Google account. When OET grants access to your registered email, Google instantly recognizes you!

Ready to Setup? Choose Your 2-Minute Quick Fix:

Method 1: I don't have a Google Account at all

If you don't use Google services, you can turn your current email address into a Google username.

1. Go to the Google Account Sign In page (accounts.google.com).
2. Click Create account.
3. Enter your name.
4. Click the link that says "Use my current email address instead".
5. Type in your current primary email address (the one OET has on file) and click Next.
6. Enter the verification code sent to your inbox, click Verify, and you're set!

President's Report

Finding a new riding partner is a little like dating—although it's been a very long time since I've done that! Every horse has their own personality, and every rider knows the situations where their horse feels most confident. The right match can make a wonderful ride even better. Maybe our webmaster and resident tech wizard, Marty, could develop an app to match compatible riding partners. We could call it Speed Dating for Horses and their People.

I hope you'll join us for good trails, good conversation, and a relaxing evening around the campfire. Whether you come for the meeting, the riding, or simply to spend time with fellow OET members, we'd love to see you at Santiam Horse Camp. Some of OET's best ideas have started as conversations around a campfire or after a ride down the trail. And many lifelong friendships have started the very same way. Come join us—you might leave with a new idea, a new riding partner, or even a new best friend.

OET Tech Corner

Method 2: I have a Gmail account, but OET uses my other email

If you already use a Gmail account for personal use, you can easily attach your OET-registered email to it as an "alternate identity."

Open your Google Account Dashboard (myaccount.google.com).

1. Select Personal info from the menu.
2. Under the Contact info section, click on Email.
3. Next to Alternate emails, select Add alternate email (you may be asked to re-enter your password for security).
4. Enter the email address you use for OET and click Add.
5. Check that email's inbox for a verification link from Google, click it, and you are good to go!

Summary

Once you finish either method, you'll have instant, seamless access to every OET Google Group, folder, and resource assigned to your membership email—no roster changes required!

Got stuck on a step? Don't hesitate to reach out to Marty DeVall at web@oregonequestriantrails.org. Happy trails!

Forest Service Releases Recreation Mobile Map

The Forest Service just released a new mobile app that can help you plan your summer recreation activities. The new "National Forests and Grasslands" app provides the most complete and accurate information about recreation sites the Forest Service has ever offered. You can access nationwide information on campground amenities and trail conditions, as well as fire information and weather alerts.

Importantly, you can use the app to identify equestrian trails within a certain radius and download offline maps to access when you don't have cell service.

The National Forests and Grasslands app is free and available on the Google Play Store or the Apple Store for iOS.

Happy Trails!

Great American Outdoors Act Supported

IOET just signed onto the letter below, which is being sent to every member of the House and Senate asking them to reauthorize the Great American Outdoors Act funding. I think the letter does a great job of explaining why this legislation is critically important, so some of our members may want to read it.

June 2026

Dear Senators,

We, organizations supporting conservation, recreation, outdoor industry, travel and tourism and historic preservation, urge you to support S. 1547, America the Beautiful Act. The bill has 64 bipartisan cosponsors and passed through the U.S. Senate Energy Natural Resources Committee with unanimous support. The bill extends the Great American Outdoors Act (GAOA) National Parks and Public Land Legacy Restoration Fund (Legacy Restoration Fund) to address critical repair needs in national parks, forests, and other public lands. The funding expired in October 2026. The Trump Administration has expressed support for extension to help celebrate America's 250th birthday.

To date, the Legacy Restoration Fund has successfully addressed billions of dollars in high priority deferred maintenance and repair needs in our public lands in every state throughout the country. These projects include campground restoration at Yosemite and Zion National Parks, cemetery rehabilitation at Petersburg National Battlefield, retrofit of the 30 year old Bureau of Land Management National Historic Oregon Trail Interpretive Center, water and wastewater repair at Death Valley National Park, roof restoration at Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial, toilet replacement at the Echo Amphitheater in Carson National Forest, water delivery system rehabilitation at Camas National Wildlife Refuge, parkway repair at Colonial National Historical Park, education and housing facilities restoration at Shonto Preparatory School.

The successes of GAOA are far-reaching, stretching from Acadia to Glacier Bay, and covering a wide range of projects from crumbling roads and trails to aging campgrounds and visitor centers. And it's clear that local communities across the country have and will continue to see the benefits of investing in the maintenance of our public lands.

Across all federal land management agencies, Legacy Restoration Fund projects support an estimated 20,000 jobs annually and are contributing more than $10 billion to the economy over five years. These economic benefits are on top of the robust economic benefits from visitor tourism. In 2024, there were nearly 331 million visits to national parks, a record-breaking number. National parks generate over $56 billion to the national economy and support 340,000 jobs in gateway communities.

Despite the progress the Legacy Restoration Fund has enabled, the challenge persists, and the backlog of repair needs continues to grow. We urge the U.S. Senate to pass S. 1547, America the Beautiful Act.

Thank you for considering our views,

By Melissa Wolf, Northwest Chapter

Surrounded by absolutely soaring trees, Northrup Creek Horse Camp sits staunchly in the Clatsop State Forest.

In May, my family won a 2 night stay at Northrup Creek at a prize ride hosted by the NW Chapter of Oregon Equestrian Trails, in partnership with the Oregon Department of Forestry. Imagine my surprise when I rolled in to absolute perfection… A mere 90 minutes from my home in Hillsboro, are eight well cared for, spacious horse campsites nestled in an old growth forest. With easy water access for my seadragon of a pony who happily splashed away. The water was by way of a short hack connector trail from camp, that, additionaly, helped my novice husband learn how to canter with confidence.

In addition to a well planned campground, there is a day use area, separate roomy equestrian trailhead parking, and a horse obstacle course. The campground offers a stunning foot traffic only 'Big Tree Trail' with some of the trees vying for tallest of their variety! The coast range trail around camp was Jurassic with nature! The 8.5 mile loop around camp is abundant with giant ferns, towering foxglove and fields of sorrel for days. Here's the thing though. We had the entire campground to ourselves.

So, why am I sharing this gem? Because I did some research. The ranger I spoke with said that more often than not, there are no horse campers at Northrup. My experience was fantastic. I wholeheartedly endorse Northrup for horse camping, or just camping in general, as there are three no pack animal sites available. For a day trip, overnight, or longer, Northrup Creek is just a little extra special and really offers something for all levels of riders.

Chapter Reports

Central Oregon Chapter

June began with a bang with our annual Poker Ride on June 6. The weather kept us guessing but cooperated. 72 riders rode for amazing prizes. The ride was organized by our card shark, Brenda Coats. Brenda did a remarkable job along with her team of expert dealers and kitchen crew. People who just happened to be camping at Sisters Cow Camp that weekend joined the fun.

Rhonda Marquis started off our monthly meeting with a video of how she and Pat planned for her ride of the Pacific Crest Trail in 2015. Rhonda's new book "Adventures on the Pacific Crest Trail" is out and well worth the read. Please bypass Amazon as it can be ordered through Rhonda at ridingthepct.org.

Hats off to members Cathy Springman and Sandy Short for undertaking this year's Sisters Rodeo Parade. It was a howling success with 26 members, all but one, dressed in OET shirts. Our own Gerry Jimerson, who turns 93 this August, led the group behind the float which was adorned with American flags and our OET banner. Lee Fischer led Gerry's mule all packed for a work party along with Pat and Rhonda who led two fully packed horses.

Kim McCarrel has led several work parties in the Ochocos to finish the signing of 50 to 60 miles of trails in the Corral Flat Network. All trails are named and color coded. The last trails will have to be signed on bikes and foot as after attempting to take horses up last week the road proved to be too rugged for the safety of trucks and horses so the decision was made to turn around. Kate Beardsley and a few others have stepped up to finish the job on bike and on foot. Thank you, Kim, for your amazing organization of this huge project.

26 Central Oregon OET members prance in the Sisters Rodeo Parade..

Pat Marquis continues to work on the STAR project (Sisters Trail Additions and Realignments). Our Grant has been approved and now we wait for funds to be released sometime in late August. It will be a long time in the making but will eventually realign 27+ miles of hiking, mountain biking and equestrian trails on the Deschutes National Forest.

"Got 'er done and had a great ride!" Rhonda and Pat Marquis saddled up to address a gigantic log blocking the new section of the Metolius Windigo trail from Todd Creek Horse Camp towards Broken Top. The log was about 3 miles up the trail. Our heroes!

Columbia County Chapter

Meeting topics this month centered primarily around fundraising and PR events. Our biggest contributor of plastic bottles for recycling has decided to do their own recycling to earn money. We still have individual donors but will certainly miss the Moose Lodge's bottles, and wish them success with their venture. We will participate in our first Public Utilities Department truck wash for the year on July 11, 9:00 a.m. We have 8 members signed up for this so far. We are making preliminary plans for our annual Trick or Treat Ride in October. We may have more difficulty than usual securing donations for prizes because of the current economy. A Wilkerson Halloween event for campers is still in the planning stage, in coordination with the CC Parks Department. We had 4 members volunteer with the CC Parks Dept. for the Crown Zellerbach Fun Run June 27, helping to set up, process runners, cheer participants, and break down. The same day, several members hosted an OET booth at the Citizen Day Event. July 11 we have another booth to host at the Scappoose Outdoor Adventure Day, which is the same day as the PUD truck wash. Some volunteers again will work double time!

For future meeting on August 12, we plan to meet at Bob and Gloria's for a BBQ. We would really like to have speakers at our meetings but have difficulty because we are a distance from major population centers, and our meetings do not have large numbers of attendees.

A gift card from Home Depot was presented to Annette and Chuck, hosts at Camp Wilkerson. We truly appreciate their dedication and support! They appreciated the acknowledgment and gift. They have made such nice improvements to the park entrance. Be sure to take a look when you visit!

Eugene Chapter

How many times have you run into a situation with your horse and just wanted to use a homemade preparation to improve things? Or you've gotten frustrated with conventional medicines and veterinary care but love your horse too much to just let things be?

Everyone runs into this. We had Ann Schwartz, regular vet who practices holistic medicine, come to our meeting last week and she answered lots of questions in a round table format Q&A about all kinds of things! She had no specific presentation planned other than addressing our questions and boy! did we have a lot! She gave us tips on homemade preparations, things to look for at the shop, online resources, things to do or not do. Interwoven were tiny bits of conventional veterinary care. While she was supportive of using electrolytes with horses that need them – travel, hard work, high temps, she emphasized to never give electrolytes to a horse that is not already drinking well. One tip someone shared was to add beer to a water bucket as well as offering plain water for reluctant drinkers because some horses will drink it willingly.

In our meeting we talked about some repair needed to make the Lost Creek Crossing at Elijah Bristow safe again. Some erosion is causing dangerous problems. Della Webb convinced Mt. Pisgah to fill in some holes in the North Bottomlands. Leslye Wing described the trail work Roseburg Chapter is trying to get done at Mildred Kanipe but their funding is possibly not timely. We decided to offer up to $1000 to help them get started as soon as they can if they need it. We all ride down there from time to time so it is important to get that poison oak and hawthorn off the trails!

Our next meeting will be a potluck/ride at Elijah Bristow with a Hawaiian theme on July 21 and August will be another potluck ride at Mount Pisgah Posse Arena on August18. A nice change and we will get to see some upgrades since the last time we were there. Wahoo!

Mt. Hood Chapter

We kicked off the summer with a campout at Stub Stewart State Park over the Memorial Day weekend. Our "hosts" and Grill King and Queen were Larry and Tonya Wilson.

Then our June Chapter meeting featured member Melissa Henthorne, who told us about Pet Partners Therapy Animals, and her experience with equines as therapy animals, even in nursing homes.

Puppies and Ponies

By Barb Adams, Mt. Hood Chapter

Saturday, June 13, Mount Hood Chapter members celebrated our Puppies and Ponies educational event at the Sandy River Delta recreation site in the Columbia River Gorge National Scenic Area (CRGNSA).

Lynn and Duncan, Vera and River, Lauri and Scout, Kali and Prince, Colleen with Keiko and Billy, Patti and Elen, and three Forest Service representatives provided opportunities to meet a horse, and information about this extremely popular recreation site.

While the dogs might be less than thrilled to meet a horse, the adults and children were delighted.

A big thank you to our event coordinator, Wendy Kerns, and all of our volunteers. We always have a fun time at this annual event.

Note: There are many more photos on our Mount Hood Chapter Facebook page.

North Coast Chapter

Sometimes a chapter's productivity is variable. We took advantage of minimal business and had an impromptu work party at Ft. Stevens in June in lieu of our regular business meeting. Ashley Lertora and Anne Borges got their weed whackers and cleared some of the north portion of DeLaura Beach trail. Sometimes, individual members take the initiative and get out on their own accord to do the labor! Member Odin Wolf worked his trusty weed whacker steed and slayed the tall mature grass that was engulfing the entrance to the south portion of the DeLaura Trail. It takes a village and lots of energy, whenever we can summon it, to take care of our trails. Huge thanks to our members for putting in their time and effort!!

Before and after at DeLaura Beach trail, Ft. Stevens State Park.

North Valley Chapter

The NVOET meeting was held at Milo McIver State Park, Estacada

Marty Devall reported from Field Services that a rack card holder to be placed on the bulletin board in the equestrian parking lot was approved by Sam Gibson, Park Manager.

Deb DeLorenzo gave an update on the Graham Corral Horse Camp water tank. The tank was installed and filled by the Sisters Fire Department. Two donations of $100.00 each have already been received through the QR code on the tank. There is a special donation fund set up by Marty DeVall. The campsites were filled at the last visit.

Our Horse Camping Clinic was held on June 6 at Willamette Mission State Park from 9-4 pm. An Ultralight Camping was presented by Terraka Mishler .

Northwest Chapter

After a very busy May, the NW chapter collectively eased into summer a little slower with simple gatherings for rides at Rogers Camp, a few members attending the work party at Quinn and pre-planning for our summer!

Summer offers not only fantastic camping and riding opportunities where we may meet potential new OET members, but it is also a great time to engage with the non-horse public. NW will be present at the Hillsboro Tuesday Night Farmer's Market where hundreds of folks flock for a car show, vendors and live music. It should pose as excellent exposure for OET! Additionally, we have again partnered with the State Forests Trust by volunteering at their forest setting concert at Smith Homestead in late July.

*Fun Fact: The NW Chapter Chair, Melissa Wolf, initially heard about OET at the Hillsboro Farmer's Market!

Roseburg Chapter Update Clearing Kelsay Valley

Watch a couple videos made last fall about our Kelsay Valley project. Awesome! We are really impacting lives!

https://youtube.com/shorts/7_KXNLqJHgo?feature=shared

https://youtube.com/shorts/als4nA-RxZU?feature=shared

During June 12th to 20th, 2026 Backcountry Horsemen of Oregon, Source One Serenity veterans, Northwest Youth Corps, Jon Hjort Enterprises, and OET cleared about 30 miles of trail.

Here is a list of the trails cleared this year: The Windigo Pass trail #1412 from KV camp to Warrior Creek, the Tenas Peak trail #1445 to the top of Tenas Peak and over to the PCT. North Umpqua Trail #1414 from White Mule Trailhead along Lemolo Lake to Kelsay Valley Horse camp and up to Maidu Lake, Pacific Crest Trail #2000 is cleared 7.5 miles north and 5 miles south to the Mt. Thielsen Wilderness boundary. The Tolo Creek #1466 trail is partially cleared as its middle section is still blocked. Its upper section and lower section have been cleared.

In the fall of 2025, the Northwest Youth Corps cleared the Calamut Lake/Way Trail #1454, the Waterbag Way trail #1455 and the Windigo Way trail #1412. These three trails have not been cleared again this year, so there are some down trees on these.

So here comes the sales pitch, if you ride at Kelsay Valley please feel free to clear brush or cut logs out the trails. I have attached two volunteer hours forms for you to record your hours. Our grant requires us to contribute about 20% in kind volunteer hours as our donation. We really need someone to ride the trails cleared in 2025 and give me a report on how many trees are down. So sharpen up your saw, saddle your horse, and hit the trails at Kelsay Valley!

Thanks, Kyle Miller - OET Kelsay Valley Project Manager

South Coast Chapter

The South Coast Chapter is taking a summer break from meetings, however work parties and rides continue.

A June 30th work party is scheduled at Wild Mare Horse Camp to place wood chips over the previously placed rock base in several corrals. Mosquitoes and ticks present during June at Wild Mare Horse Camp slowed down activities there. The new camp host took a break too. If sunny weather arrives in July, conditions should improve at Wild Mare Horse Camp. More trail clearing at the North Spit is planned. By August 8 & 9, conditions for horse camping and riding are expected to improve for OET members who attend the Wild Mare Camp Out. Rides and an August 8 dinner potluck are planned. All the Wild Mare sites are already reserved.

A South Coast camp out and riding is also planned at the USFS Horse Creek Campground on Cape Mountain, just north of Florence on July 9 - 12. Make your own reservation at recreation.gov Potluck on Saturday.

Our co-outreach team, Kellie and Cathy, plan to arrange a membership drive at the new Tractor Supply in Coos Bay. Watch for the date this summer.

The South Coast Chapter sponsored the trail horse class at the Coos County Posse Show. The winner, Kailee Wallack, is an accomplished young horsewoman who is now invited to join OET!

Next South Coast Chapter meeting is 6:30 PM, September 16, 2026 @ Dave's Pizza, 740 Koos Bay Blvd., Coos Bay

Herbal Remedies

Herbal remedies for horses can be great natural additions to support your equine's health, but always consult your veterinarian before introducing new supplements. Herbs can have pharmacological effects and may trigger positive drug tests in competitive events.Commonly used herbs and their traditional equine benefits include:

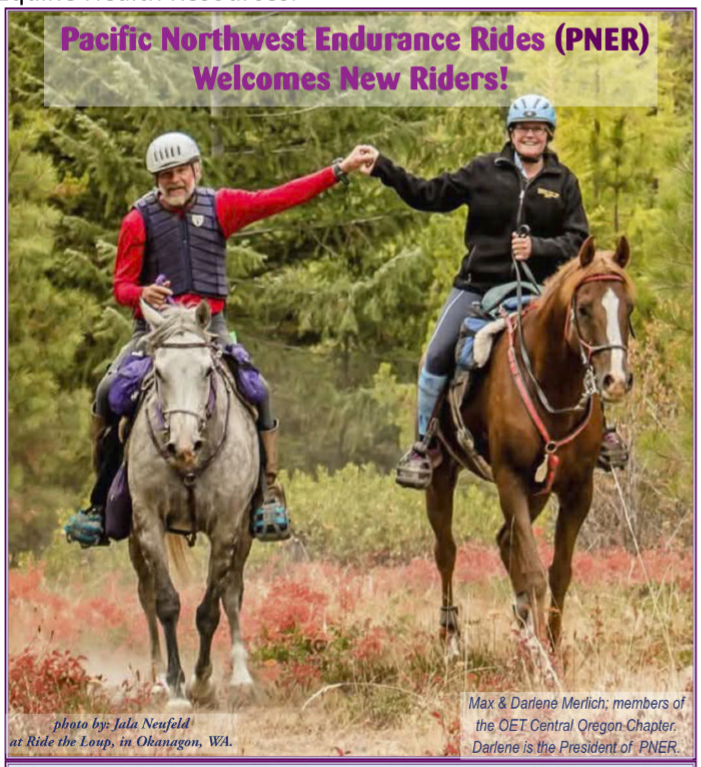
Immune & Respiratory Support: Echinacea helps stimulate the immune system and fight off infections, while Spirulina is rich in antioxidants and supports respiratory function.

Calming & Digestion: Chamomile and peppermint promote relaxation and soothe mild digestive discomfort. For acute gas, some owners use tincture pastes made from slippery elm and ginger.

Inflammation & Pain: Devil's Claw and Arnica are traditionally used to alleviate muscle aches, stiffness, and joint inflammation.Skin & Coat Health: Herbs like nettle and milk thistle support the liver, promote a healthy coat, and aid in easing seasonal skin irritations.

Hormonal Support: Chaste tree berries (Agnus Castus) are frequently used to help balance hormones and provide metabolic support.

Before purchasing or administering any herbal products, learn more about safe equine herbology by reading the Kentucky Equine Research Guide or exploring detailed UGA Equine Health Resources.



If you love trail riding and enjoy the camaraderie of camping & riding new trails with other horse enthusiasts, Endurance Riding may be a sport for you! Many of our PNER Rides are now offering Introductory (Trail) Rides. Introductory Rides are designed for riders who would like to sample the "endurance" experience on a short course. The horse will stand for vet check exams and the rider will follow a flagged course with other riders traveling at various speeds on courses ranging from eight to twelve miles.

Home-made Essential Oil Recipe

Cooling Solution

By Mary Kamm as learned from webinar by Janet Reark DVM.

Peppermint essential oil is a powerful, natural cooling agent. It contains menthol, which triggers the skin's cold-sensitive receptors to create an instant, refreshing tingling sensation. Because it doesn't change the body's core temperature, it is best used for temporary relief alongside proper hydration and cold water hosing.

10 drops of Peppermint Essential Oil

100 ml of water (about 1/2 cup)

Mix in a small spray bottle. Shake well before using.

Cooling, soothing, and repels insects! Spray liberally on the horse's body, but avoid the head (peppermint can irritate eyes and nasal passages).

Watch for more home-made essential oil recipes in the next issues of Riders' Roundup.

Quinn Meadow Work Party

Twenty Miles, Twenty Volunteers, and a Whole Lot of Crosscut Sawing

By Matt Dolphin, VP Field Services

My last-minute preps for the Quinn Meadow work party found me sitting in front of my computer screen with half a dozen tabs and windows open.

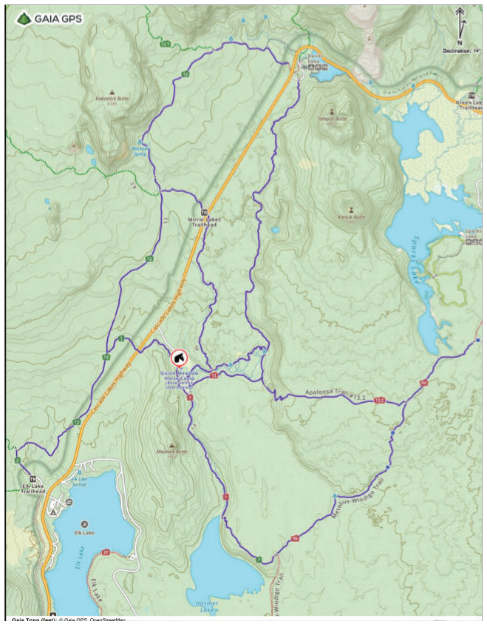
Volunteer list printed? Check.
Waivers printed? Check.
Safety plan and checklist printed? Check.
Maps printed? Check.
Weather? Looking warm at first, then cooling down with rain later in the week.
Fire restrictions? Uh oh.

Just days before the start of our work party, the Forest Service raised the Industrial Fire Precaution Level, or IFPL, to Level III. Translation: we could not use chainsaws to cut out more than 20 miles of trails. Every tree blocking the trail would have to be cleared the old-fashioned way, with an arm-powered crosscut saw.

That changed the whole plan.

I made a last-minute call to Frank DeWeese to grab an extra crosscut saw. We were going to need it. In what must have raised a few eyebrows from any passing observers in Carlton, two vehicles met at the old train depot. I hopped out of my vehicle as Frank pulled a large saw from the bed of his pickup. We loaded it into the back of my car, and I headed home to finish packing for Quinn Meadow.

After arriving at camp, I made a few laps around the campground as people arrived, welcoming volunteers and letting them know that this year we would need all hands on deck — or, more accurately, all hands on the saw handles.



Purple tracks show trails cleared.

The first day was warm, and the work was slow going at times. Without chainsaws, each log required teamwork, patience, and a willingness to take turns pulling a crosscut saw through trail-blocking trees. But the group showed up ready to work. Crews headed out, saws went to work, and little by little the trails began to open.

We were also racing the weather. The forecast called for cooler temperatures, rain, and maybe even snow later in the week. That gave us a narrow window to get as much done as possible.

For many of our volunteers, this was their first time using a crosscut saw. That could have slowed us down, but instead it became one of the best parts of the work party. Experienced sawyers helped coach newer volunteers, people learned by doing, and before long, first-timers were finding their rhythm on the saw. It was a great reminder that trail work is not just about clearing logs. It is also about building skills, confidence, and a stronger volunteer community.

With the help of 20 volunteers, we were able to clear 20 miles of trails in just a few short days.

Wow.

That kind of success only happens because people are willing to give their time, energy, skill, and good humor to the work. Whether they were sawing, swamping, scouting, packing tools, helping in camp, or supporting the crew, every volunteer made a difference.

Thank you to everyone who helped make this year's Quinn Meadow work party a success: Chestine Anderson, Sandi Anderson, Barbara Bentley, Mikki Colmus, Eliza Davis, Max Dolphin, Renee Dolphin, Sam Dolphin, Hope Flint, Scott Hills, Dan Lee, Laura Lojko, Leslie McLeod, Betsey Nelson, Sandra Rorsencranz, Sandy Short, Shawna Smith, Susie Vroman, Monica Wellington
